

If your refund was a paper Treasury check and has been cashed:

Submit a personal check, money order, etc., immediately, but no later than 21 days, to the appropriate IRS location. The location is based on your state of residency. Use the mailing address listed below for the state you live in.

Write on the check/money order: "Payment of Erroneous Refund," the tax period for which the refund was issued, the account type ((IMF) individual or (BMF) Business) and your taxpayer identification number (Social Security number, employer identification number, or individual taxpayer identification number). Include a brief explanation of the reason for returning the refund.

Cashing an erroneous refund check may result in interest due to the IRS.

If your refund was a direct deposit:

Contact the Automated Clearing House (ACH) department of the bank/financial institution where the direct deposit was received and have them return the refund to the IRS.

Call the IRS toll-free at 800-829-1040 (individual) or 800-829-4933 (business) (see telephone assistance for hours of operation) to explain why the direct deposit is being returned.

Interest may accrue on the erroneous refund.
