NOTICE OF FINAL DETERMINATION AND DEMAND FOR PAYMENT

The Department of Revenue previously issued a Notice of Deficiency. Our records indicate that you did not appeal the adjustment in writing within the allotted 30 days.

An outstanding balance of $547.00 is due on your Individual Income Tax account. The detail for this period is enclosed with this notification. If this period is in an active payment plan or bankruptcy, no response is required at this time. If not, full payment is due at this time, and you must respond as indicated below.

Upon receipt of this letter:

- Go to www.Colorado.gov/RevenueOnline and select "Make a Payment" to see all of your payment options, including to request a payment plan. Paying online ensures timely posting of your payment and gives you immediate confirmation that the payment has been received.
- Otherwise, you may submit your payment with the enclosed payment voucher.

If you do not respond as indicated, any of the following actions can occur:

- Garnishment of wages and/or bank account(s)
- Referral to a collection agency
- A lien or judgment filing against real/personal property
- Seizure and sale of personal property

If you believe a protest to the original notice was filed within 30 days or that this notice was issued in error or is factually incorrect, you may submit additional information at www.Colorado.gov/RevenueOnline or write to us at the address above. Please include an explanation of why you believe an error occurred, copies of any supporting documents and a copy of this notice. While the Department will consider your information, this Notice of Final Determination and Demand for Payment will remain in effect and this review does not extend any statutory protest period or prevent any of the actions mentioned above from occurring.

Executive Director
Colorado Department of Revenue
